JUDGMENT (Per Sri B.Prakash Rao, J)

Heard both sides and at their request, the main appeal itself is taken up for disposal.

In this appeal, the appellant who is the petitioner seeks to assail the award passed by the Labour Court in pursuance of the reference sought against the orders of dismissal where the Labour Court has given an order directing for fresh appointment.

The learned counsel for the appellant submits that having regard to the nature of allegations, the appellant should have been reinstated with all other benefits

Having considered the submissions made and on perusal of record, it is seen that the delay in approaching this Court has not been properly explained. As rightly pointed out by the learned single Judge, absolutely there is no sufficient cause shown to condone the abnormal delay of about ten years in approaching this Court. In view of the same, we do not find any merits in the appeal.

Accordingly, the writ appeal is dismissed. No costs.
